

Artefacts tell stories of people and places and if we look very closely we can read the clues.

- Look at the following objects:
- Can you identify what they were made of?
 - What they were used for
 - Who might have used them?
 - What kind of environment did they come from?
 - What kind of society or culture used them?
 - Are they useful objects or decorative objects?
 - Can they be grouped according to their purpose? Are they similar or different?
